

Catholic Stewardship in Uncertain Times: Reflect, Assess, and Plan

WEBINAR SLIDES

As Catholic institutions continue stewardship efforts during the current health crisis, the months ahead present a myriad of new challenges and opportunities.

To support your missions with counsel on how to navigate the short- and long-term, CCS Fundraising, in partnership with ICSC, convened a panel of leaders in Catholic stewardship from across the country for an engaging discussion. This panel, convened specifically for all diocesan and parish stewardship professionals, offered perspectives, reflections, and insights on how Catholic institutions can ensure a robust stabilization and re-emergence plan through 2020 and beyond.

Attendees experienced practical strategies and new innovations for:

- Motivating staff members
- Engaging volunteer leadership
- Stewarding lead donors
- Leveraging the impact of virtual community building for future ministry/development, the annual appeal, planned giving, and events
- Evaluating and planning for the summer, fall, and 2021

CO-HOSTS:

- Peter Hoskow, Principal & Managing Director, CCS Fundraising
- Thomas Kissane, Principal & Managing Director, CCS Fundraising
- Michael Murphy, Executive Director, International Catholic Stewardship Council

FEATURED PANELISTS:

- Patrick Grace, Executive Director, Catholic Community Foundation of the Diocese of Cleveland
- Brendan Keating, Chief Development Officer, Archdiocese of Chicago
- Jill McNally, Director of Stewardship and Development, Diocese of Madison
- John Notaro, Executive Director, Catholic Foundation for Brooklyn and Queens
- Msgr. Lloyd Torgerson, Pastor, St. Monica Catholic Community (Santa Monica, CA)
- Scott Whitaker, Secretariat Director for Stewardship and Development, Diocese of Austin